Twenty-Two Miners Meet Death In Mine Explosion

Fifty-two Encased In Mine Following An Explosion

COUNTRY NOW MOANING LOSS

Accident Occurs On National Holiday At Cwm, Wales

CWM, Wales, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Fifty-two coal miners are believed to have lost their lives as a result of an explosion early this morning which entombed them in the gas filled workings of the marine colliery.

The toll of known dead this afternoon was 22, while hope had been abandoned of rescuing 30 others who were trapped in a section a mile and a half from the main shaft.

At the time of the explosion there were 135 men in the mines, rescue squads fought grimly through the morning hours to reach their comrades and more than 80 men were brought to the surface alive. The task of the rescuers was made more difficult because of poisonous gases and many who descended into the mine were overcome and taken to hospitals. The gas became so bad at noon that rescue work had to be abandoned to permit ventilation of the mine.

Hundreds of women and children, the families of the entombed men, gathered about the pithead and there were pathetic scenes as they rushed forward to identify each man rescued.

The disaster, which is one of the worst the Welsh have known in recent years took place on their national St. David's Day and the whole country was plunged in gloom.

NOTTINGHAM, Eng., Mar. 1.—(AP)—Sixteen miners are thought to have been drowned when a staging on which they were working in the shaft of the Bilstone colliery collapsed today, precipitating them into the flooded mine.

NOTTINGHAM, England, Mar. 1.—(AP)—Hope was virtually abandoned late today for the rescue of 14 men who fell to the bottom of the flooded shaft of the Bilstone colliery, when a staging collapsed. Three men were rescued.

Reward Of $1,000 Is Posted For The Capture Of Men

TROY, Ala., Mar. 1.—(AP)—Police today apparently have made no progress in rounding up the robbers who Sunday night ripped up the floor of a storehouse on the plantation of R. C. Flowers, wealthy Pike county planter and merchant and escaped with a money box containing $25,000.

The robbery was not discovered until yesterday when Mr. Flowers entered the storehouse. He immediately informed officers here of the theft and then posted a reward of $1,000 for the capture of the men.

Police in their investigation later found the empty box some distance away from the storehouse, with lock shot off.

Lack of safes in banks, it is said, caused Mr. Flowers to bury the money beneath the floor of the storehouse.

Farm authorities from over North Alabama, watching Decatur's first venture at helping farmers in action as well as in word, will gather here on next Saturday morning to witness the opening of the Decatur Curb market. The market is the first to be established in the North Alabama section, although South Alabama farmers have enjoyed the advantages for several years.

were preparing to ask at least 250 Decatur housewives to attend the market on the opening date.

Miss Sallye Hamilton, county demonstration agent and J. C. Ford, county farm agent, have assured local people that with good weather that the opening from a producers standpoint will be a decided success. Farmers who have acted on the permanent market committee, have been doing excellent work in their various communities and state that quite a few from their particular localities are planning to be here on opening day.

Meanwhile, the building committee continues operations, preparing the market house for next Saturday and assuring housewives and producers that the completed project will stand on east Moulton street by Friday night.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Mar. 1.—(AP)—Lita Grey Chaplin's threat to name "a prominent motion picture actress" in her divorce complaint against Charley Chaplin, today afforded the film colony a new morsel for conjecture and gossip in the marital affairs of the screen comedian.

Lyndol L. Young, chief counsel for Mrs. Chaplin, yesterday furnished a new sensation for those who have been following the case, when he announced that his client "in all probability would amend her complaint by injecting charges of infidelity and naming a feminine film star."

In her original complaint, Mrs. Chaplin accused her actor husband of having humiliated her by publicly and privately associating with other women, five of whom were said to be prominent screen actresses. None of them, however, was referred to by name.

Young's announcement was made in denial of statements attributed to Joseph Schenk, film producer, now in New York, in which he was quoted as saying he believed Mrs. Chaplin regretted filing the divorce action.

MAKE RESERVATIONS Kiwanians were urged today to make reservations for the Cullman trip on Thursday.

CITIZENS TO MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT TO DISCUSS PLANT

Business Men Gather With Directors At The Y. M. C. A.

JUNIORS WILL MEET ALSO

"Acreage Contracts" Are Necessary Immediately

Business men of Decatur today were being invited to attend the meeting Wednesday night, called by the directors of the canning plant and to be held at 7 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A.

Messrs. Hayden and Ford, Louisville and Nashville and county farm agents, respectively, will be present to confer with the local people.

The meeting will be held jointly with the membership gathering of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the date of which was changed from Tuesday evening to Wednesday evening, on account of the Louisville and Nashville pay-day.

It will be recalled that last week a group of local business men met at the invitation of the Junior Chamber's canning plant committee and perfected a skeleton organization with Charles Rountree as president, J. H. Crow, vice-president, S. L. Morrow secretary; directors—A. D. Jervis, C. H. Eyster, J. H. Crow, H. B. Beard, C. T. Rountree, B. L. Malone, J. W. Knight and S. L. Morrow.

Acting in conjunction with the canning plant committee of the Juniors, more than $1,000 worth of stock already has been subscribed by local people. Following the meeting Wednesday evening, it is believed that the entire amount necessary will be available. The Juniors committee is composed of S. L. Morrow, A. L. Moye, Ben Britnell, Marion Chandler, C. W. Knight and B. C. Shelton. Members of this committee gave much time last week to discussing, in person, the merits of the canning factory with various local citizens.

It is planned to have the plant operate this summer and to accomplish this result, it will be necessary to begin contracting for acreage at an early date, necessitating rapid work in the placing of stock in the endeavor.

Worry Over Standing In Schools Is Blamed For Suicide Among Students

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—(INS)—Worry over grades and general school conditions are not responsible for the wave of suicides among college students, according to Dr. G. S. Snoddy, head of the psychology department of the University of Indiana.

"Suggestion is the biggest factor back of the enormous increase in suicides," Dr. Snoddy said. "A stronger element of instability runs through it all. The individual becomes weak, discouraged, sometime, 'broke,' and his future is not altogether bright. Because somebody else does it, he does it; and so, we have the excitable, neurotic, queer, and unsocial types killing themselves."

Too much excitement and over-indulgence also are responsible, he said.

"There is something in the spirit of 'flaming youth' today," he said. "Young people lack the older, stabilizing theories of conduct and get so filled up on pleasures that there is nothing left. The psychology of suicide is too much ease. If it were possible for people of self-preservation, there would be no suicides."

FRANCE AND ITALY STILL MAY JOIN IN ARMS CUT PARLEY

President Not Yet Had Time to Study Text of Answers

FORM OF REPLY NOT EXAMINED

Much Depends on The Phraseology Of Messages

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—(AP)—President Coolidge still hopes for a five power agreement to further limit naval armament.

While he has not had opportunity to examine carefully the favorable replies to his suggestion received from Great Britain and Japan and the unfavorable answers from France and Italy, it was said at the white house today that he did not regard those communications as foreclosing the possibility of such agreements as he has in mind.

The proposals made by the president to the powers was confined strictly to "limitation of armament" and was not intended by Mr. Coolidge to imply plans for reduction of armament. The president attaches significance to this in view of the form of some of the replies.

The president doubts the practicability of a three-power understanding between Great Britain, the United States and Japan and the Washington government still is pursuing the five-power plan, not without hope of ultimate results.

Turner Coal & Grain Company Plans To 'Make An Old House a New Home'

Two-story House on Olive Street, East, Will Be Dressed For Springtime.

"Make an old house a new home," that is the plan of the Turner Coal & Grain company, now planning to alter and reconstruct an old two-story frame dwelling, situated in the 1000 block on Olive street, east. Work will begin in the coming week. Speaking of the change, the following is interesting:

By LOUIS BRANDT
Housing Engineer

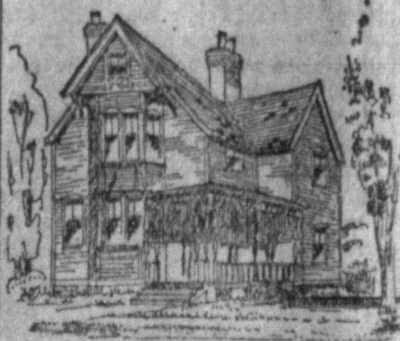

The frame house has always been difficult to heat and keep heated. The kind of fuel used or the style of the heating system makes little difference, because it is not a question of the amount of heat generated. It is a matter of holding that heat in the house.

We know that frame houses cannot be air-tight—and after a few years a great many of them are barely weather-tight. In the construction of frame houses where a tongue and groove type of siding is used, the clapboards are driven tightly together. Great care is taken in this work at points where the siding starts at the foundation and where it joins around windows and doors, and under the eaves of the roof.

And this careful construction would have its reward if it were not for the fact that frame houses go through a seasoning process which causes the wood to shrink

Then there is the effect of changing weather. Hard rains, snow, the rays of the sun, all play a part in contributing to this general condition.

It is through these cracks and openings that heat leaves a frame house. Block these avenues of escape and the heat that is generated will stay in a frame house. And to do this is no longer a problem. It can be accomplished by covering the house with an over-coat of stucco that has been reinforced. The stucco fits snugly around the outside walls, cementing windows and door frames into place and making them weather-tight. All openings and cracks at the foundation and under the eaves of the roof are closed. The house is made air-tight and heat cannot escape. Cracking and shrinkage are prevented by the reinforcing in the stucco, and the entire house is strengthened correspondingly. With such construction there can be no serious question about the kind of fuel or the style of heating system because the house is not the original frame house, except structurally—it is a warm and comfortable home surrounded by permanent, fire-resisting walls of man-made stone.

Sheet Steel Is Used In House

Sheet steel, sold by Turner Coal & Grain company, is being used in the reconstruction of the C. D. Patterson house, Jackson street, which was recently badly damaged by fire. The material is being used for corner reinforcement.

RANKIN SPEAKS OF HOME FINANCE

Union Central Agent Enjoys Increase In Business

M. R. Rankin, of the firm Cain, Wolcott & Rankin, today talked briefly of home financing. Mr. Rankin recently accepted the agency of the Union Central Life Insurance company and declares that business in that line has been good since the agency was established here.

Speaking of the finance method, Mr. Rankin stated, "We are not middlemen or loan brokers, we charge no commissions, no inspection fees, no expenses. So far as we are concerned you have only to furnish an abstract, prepared by some abstracter acceptable to the company, and to pay for two photographs of the property and for recording the mortgage or security deed."

"In the farm loan field, the company is a pioneer," said Mr. Rankin, "it began lending to farmers 60 years ago and has loaned about four hundred million dollars to the farmers of the United States. In the city loan field the company has loaned many millions in all sections of the country."

UNDER PLASTER

Celotex eliminates lath and gives stronger, insulated walls: less apt to crack... free from lath marks.

Amazing Lumber

Adds new comfort... saves money

ALREADY more than 90,000 homes have been built with an amazing lumber that shuts out heat and cold... builds stronger... and saves fuel money. This amazing lumber is Celotex. It is not cut from trees, but is manufactured from the tough fibres of cane into broad, strong boards.

Under plaster, replacing lath, Celotex will help keep your home warmer in winter, cooler in summer, and give you a far better plaster job. It costs only a few cents more per yard than ordinary construction and means less upkeep expense because of fewer cracks and no lath marks. Plaster bonds with Celotex much tighter than it keys to lath.

Celotex will also bring you great comfort and economy when used as sheathing, replacing wood lumber... as roof insulation... or as attic and basement lining in homes already built.

Let us tell you more about these great advantages.

-.GOLDEN ROADS.-

By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

"I never felt better in my life," said Gay to Stanley. "I haven't been working too hard."

Gay Moore and Christine Noe, her cousin, are employed in the Wall Street house of Johnstone Baird, Gay as a typist and Christine as telephone operator. Christine is in love with Roger Pennington, called Penny by his intimates, and Gay is in love with Stanley Baird, Penny's chum and son of Johnstone Baird. Gay, knowing of the friendship existing between Johnstone Baird and a woman known as the "Lilac Lady" fears that Stanley will inherit his father's vices and grows doubtful of his love for her. She incurs the enmity of Johnstone Baird through inadvertently opening the door of a private dining room in a roadhouse of doubtful reputation where she has gone to seek her cousin Christine. Christine to arouse Penny's jealousy has gone there with Ivor Barclay. Stanley leaves his home and goes to work as an automobile mechanic. His family disowns him, but he and Gay get married and start housekeeping in a tiny apartment. Meanwhile Christine fails to understand the ambition that is driving Penny to make good in his position and jealously lays the blame on Peggy Baird, Stan's sister. Meanwhile, Gay and Stan are blissfully happy in their apartment, albeit Christine tells Gay that she is a fool for living so when she might have every luxury. Gay and Stan have been married a month when Stan receives an invitation to a coming out party given for his cousin. No mention is made of Gay. Stan refuses to accept, but Gay insists. Stan goes to the party, and gets home very late. Gay jealously imagines him with Mim Brooks, Peggy Baird's chum. Stanley tells Gay that the Johnstone Baird employees are giving their annual ball and insists they must both go. Penny tells Christine he must accompany Peggy Baird. In a huff Christine invites Ivor Barclay to escort her to the function. Arrived at the ball, Gay is having a wonderful time, when Mim Brooks and Peggy Baird arrive. Stan goes at once to Mim, leaving Gay alone. Peggy snubs Gay and Penny seeing it, comes to her rescue and insists that she dance. He leaves her in a little alcove.

After the ball, Gay is torn by doubts and misgivings. She goes to her home and talks it over with Jaimie, her father. He tells her marriage is for better or worse and convinces her of the error of her thoughts. She returns to Stan, and tells herself that everything is all right—that she will never question again.

Christine, jealously infuriated by Peggy Baird's calls for Penny, insists he is not in the office. Peggy comes to the office and finds that it is untrue and Christine is discharged. Leaving the office, she meets Penny in the corridor. He gives her the key to his apartment, and tells her to go there and he will come up early and they can talk.

Meantime, Gay plans happily for the future. In the midst of her dreams, Stan telephones that he will not be home until late, that he is at Mr. Brooks—Mimi Brooks' father—home and that there is something big in hand. A New Company, Gay jealously imagines this to be a falsehood and when Stan comes home, pretends to be asleep.

Christine goes to Penny's apartment. They have supper together and Penny convinces Christine she is wrong in thinking him in love with Peggy Baird, as he loves her and they plan happily to get married in the morning.

CHAPTER 35

"Hello, lil' wiff!" He called it from the kitchen door, all cheerful grin, quite, Gay thought, as if he hadn't broken her heart last night. She looked up, over the eggs she was poaching, and quickly down again because she couldn't smile. But Stan was too gleeful to notice.

He strode in, picked her up as if she had been a feather, kissed her on both cheeks. "Couldn't stay awake for her old man. Didn't care about the big news. Oh, my no! Was that nice?"

"I did, though, Stanley. You said you'd come early. Well, I was frightened. I phoned and you were dancing."

A tear rolled down her nose and he stared in amazement. "Dancing? Whatever made you think that? Say—Mimi had some friends over and they did dance, I guess. Why, Gay—you thought—if you aren't the darndest!"

He brought up a roar of laughter and kissed her again; with her face snuggled against his coat she saw herself making ready to leave him—fumbling with the key in the door.

"You weren't dancing, Stan?" "Not with a lady. Me—I was doing a Charleston with Daddy Brooks up and down a double column of figures. Coffee ready? I'll take it in. What do you think? He's organizing a new firm and he's got a nice job all ready to hand me. Office manager! Pretty nifty—yes? Can name my own hours and draw a portly salary. We'll have a maid. First thing I thought of. How'd you like a little car to drive around? And a bigger flat—all outside rooms? Gosh!"

She felt none of his triumph—only a little aching emptiness as she looked at him across the blue dishes.

Mimi Brooks father taking Stan away from the things they had worked for, loved so. Stan's old world was like a magnet, always ready to draw him back in spite of himself—away from her.

But she only said, "You'll miss Steve Connors, won't you? And the invention—I thought you liked that—"

"I'd have plenty of time—more than ever." He was watching her, puzzled. "Look here, Gay, aren't you glad? Thought you'd be tickled to pieces. I sure never expected such luck all at once."

"Yes—well. I want whatever is best for you. We've been so very happy," she added dimly. When he made no answer she went on. "How did Mr. Brooks happen to think of you, Stan? A new company—I'd suppose there'd be others—more experienced—for office manager. It's a particular job, isn't it?"

He brushed that aside. "Wants new blood, so he said. Besides he's after capital. Not much; enough to show good will."

"But, Stan—" The emptiness was filled, suddenly, with premonition. Fear wiped the color from her cheeks, widened her eyes. "That money—what your grandmother left—you weren't thinking of using that?"

"You'd mind that, Gay? After all it's lying idle. Well, I didn't accept the offer. Wanted to see how you felt."

He shrugged, dismissed the matter. Yet she could feel his disappointment. She followed him to the door, rather like a little ghost, tremulous and uncertain. He stood a moment, put his arms around her, held her close.

"Such a girl—such a little, sweet girl. When I see the others—ones I used to know—I realize what I've got. No one like you—not in all the world!"

She'd been prepared for coldness; unspoken reproaches, but not for his tenderness. It rushed upon her like a crash of music, sweet, too sweet—lashing back her doubts, sweeping her away on a terrific sense of happiness.

Too overwhelming it was for her strength; she felt herself sinking swiftly into the soft dark.

The next she knew she was lying on the bed and Stan was bending over her, tense with anxiety.

"Better now?" he kept saying. "I'll get a doctor. Lordee! Been working too hard, you have. That's why I wanted the new job. Feel better, now?"

She laughed, shakily—pulled his head down. "I haven't been working too hard and I don't want a doctor. I never felt better in my life than I do this minute—so there! I'll lie down a while—to please you—play I'm ill—"

He went to his work, then, reluctantly, and Gay remained very still while the hours glided by. Each one sparkled as it slipped past, offering her a resplendent thing. The memory of his words: "When I see the others—ones I used to know—I realize what I've got. No one like you—not in all the world!" She tingled all over with rapture.

She put on the new frock that evening and when he came he held her at arm's length, turned her this way and that, swore it was the prettiest dress that ever he had seen.

"Now I know why she didn't wish him to take a wealthy job. Clever, she is; wanted to show how smart she can be though poor. Vain little thing!"

"Anyway," more seriously, "I turned down that offer. Brooks didn't like it much, I guess. Who cares?"

She wanted to tell him she was glad, but felt too deeply at that moment to be as casual as he had been. While she groped for words the telephone rang.

Arid Condition Is Still

INDIANAPOLIS.—Indiana, the "bone-dry" state, famed far and wide for the stringency of its prohibition laws, will continue to be as arid as ever, if not more so, despite legislative efforts to modify the statutes.

Three attempts have been made during the present session of the state legislature, to make the stringent provisions of the dry law a trifle easier to evade. But every effort has been blocked.

On the other hand, the Indiana Anti-Saloon League has passed a bill providing for the strengthening of the drunken driver section of the state road law making it conform with the same section in the renowned "Wright law" passed two years ago.

An effort was made to make the search and seizure section of the Wright act conform with the same section in the national prohibitory law. It was just an attempt, however, for after the measure was reported out of committee, a roll call of the House scared all Representatives into recommending the measure's indefinite postponement, which was tantamount to killing it.

Auto Racing Season To Open With Big Los Angeles Classic

LOS ANGELES.—The 1927 American Automobile Association racing season, expected by many to be one of the most sensational in the history of the thrilling sport, opens March 6 with the 250-mile Los Angeles National Classic on the famous Culver City speedway, one of the fastest tracks in the world.

Headed by Harry Hartz, champion automobile racing pilot for 1926 after capturing most of the laurels in competition during that year, the cream of the racing world will compete in the Southern California classic, which is forecast by experts as certain to set new world speed records.

Frank Loskhart, 23 year old dare devil racer, who won the Indianapolis speed classic last season, the first time he ever started in a big race, will also contest for honors in the Culver City race. Eddie Hearn, grand old man of the roaring road one of the greatest pilots that ever held a wheel, is to be among those present, together with Peter De Palo, smiling Italian pilot; Leon Duray, the big French ace, and Al Melcher, who drove in the old Atlanta and Savannah road races with Eddie Hearn, and who has been known for years as one of the most daring dirt-track pilots in the world.

P. H. "Puss" Halbritter, who is staging the classic with a group of associates, is preparing for the largest crowd in the annals of the Pacific Coast automobile racing.

Qualifying speed for the big event, to eliminate all slow cars, will be placed at the highest mark since the 91.5 cubic inch piston displacement motors were first introduced on the tracks last May 30 in the annual 500-mile international sweepstakes at Indianapolis.

Fred J. Wagner, internationally known sportsman, who starts all the high events on the fast board tracks throughout the country, will hold the flags for the March 3 Southern California event, with Art Klein, old time racing driver, to ride in rapture.

Orneys to secure fat fees for prosecuting liquor cases. He also tried to eliminate provisions in the Wright law that make empty bottles prima facie evidence of violation of liquor laws.

This effort was not as successful as its predecessor. It died in committee when the head of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League brought in his re-enforcements, consisting chiefly of some fifty odd members of the W. C. T. U.

The third attempt—an outright repeal of the Wright act—died at its inception. A member of the lower branch of the legislature, after drawing up the bill, decided to keep it as an heirloom of his good intentions, for he never handed it in for first reading.

But the only attempt of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League to put a measure through the legislature was successful.

Rep. Frank E. Wright, Representative of Marion, an author of the famous "bone dry" law, sponsored the amendment to the drunken driver section of the road law.

And now anyone convicted of driving an automobile under the influence of intoxicating liquor in this state will be required to spend at least 30 days in jail, and pay a fine ranging from $50 to $500.

Every effort to make the measure "reasonable" was blocked by the Anti-Saloon-League forces.

Attempts were made to change the mandatory features of the law to make the sentence discretionary with the judges inflicting punishment. But again the dry forces in the legislature were victorious, and the word "shall" was left in the bill.

Talk Decatur as the best city in the state of Alabama, you won't go wrong.

FAMOUS FRENCH RECIPES

BY ALICE LANGELEIER

PARIS.—A delightful "Salade Toulousaine" is the recipe of a journalist-poet, Laurent Tailhade.

Cut into fine pieces several hearts of artichokes and very black truffles. Turn into a dish and cover with very fine pieces of garlic. Pour over a good French dressing made with oil and vinegar with seasoning. Let stand an hour before serving.

"Eat plentifully of the salad" adds the poet, "but see as few people as possible afterward."

PARIS.—The left-overs of a

veal roast make a very good entree. Chop about one pound of the meat into fine pieces. Put into an earthen bowl and mix with a large spoonful of butter, white Bechamel sauce, thick and cold, a cupful of cream, three eggs, salt and pepper. Cook in a mold over hot water. Remove to a dish and surround with a good white sauce or a garniture of vegetables.

TODAY 12 Years Ago

From The Daily of March 1, 1915.

What all the "oldest inhabitants" has agreed was the most remarkable snowfall for many generations, brightened the earth here yesterday.

Marriage Licenses: John D. Winton to Miss Persia Hensley; Clark Gilbreath to Miss Dollie Brown.

Miss Fannie Johnson has about recovered from an attack of grippe that kept her from school duties.

Deputy W. F. Beasley who has been very ill at his home near Massey was able to resume his duties today.

See where a jewelry store was looted by a gang of bold bandits, that's what you call getting even.

Sunday services at the county jail, the result of work on the part of the W. C. T. U., are indeed laudable. Small acts of great worth are rarely noticeable by the general public, but here's one that did not get by the masses.

Pretty soon now—"Oh! Skinnay, put on your overcoat, your gum boots and your stocking cap, and go down to Malone Park to watch the Millers throw snowballs at each other."

Decatur is shooting square with Morgan county, Decatur is after those things beneficial to Morgan county as well as Decatur, Morgan contains will do well to aid Decatur in undertakings which will prove successful for the county. That's the way our folks work.

About three more good sized industries this year and our civic goal will be reached for 1927. Keep your eyes and ears open, when you get the tip tell it to the citizens, they will put up the money in worthwhile enterprise.

Praying Contest Now Is Spreading—said a headline in The Daily, Monday. And may that prayer include the city of Decatur and Morgan county people, that they may learn to utilize their God-given talents to the mutual advantages of themselves and their fellowmen.

"I never knew it before," said a local business man. "I never knew that any organization could exist without funds and do as much as the Junior Chamber of Commerce has done since its organization." That's true, but the J. C. C. has had to stall a lot of collectors.

Well, do tell. Another commission is going to study the Shoals. How much cheaper for Congress if that body would move down into the Shoals area, the climate, too, is much better, though it is doubtful if they could keep cool with the Shoals folks swarming about them asking for action.

Brigadier General Smedley Butler, the fighting Marine who cleaned up Philadelphia, has been ordered to China where he will command a force of 2,500 Marines. That means that China is going to see a real fighter at once. General Butler can do more with twenty-five hundred Marines than most Generals could do with 100,000.

Brisbane will have cause to talk some more about America's fighting air force. Two fliers, on a good will tour, fell in South America. Brisbane will have more speeches upon the subject than upon his favorite California. So far as Alabamians are concerned, the writer might just as well do without praise for the far west.

PAY YOUR BILLS PROMPTLY WEEK BRINGS ATTENTION.

"Pay your bills promptly week" began with Monday, but you have four full days to take care of the lesson taught, four days to revise that credit rating which may have been a bit shaky.

Another thing, you have four days in which you may place local business on a pretty substantial basis, cash in the bank makes for stability, allows the merchant time to think about how he may better serve you, how much he may risk on the purchase of additional stocks, beautify his place of business, purchase more and better merchandise for you to pick from. Financial worries over the head of a business man make inroads upon his good business methods. Paying that old account will lessen that much worry for him. "Pay your bills promptly." A local pastor has argued that we can make this the "Praying-est town in Alabama," let's argue at the same time that we can make this the "Payingest town in Alabama." We will gain friends in town and out by the adoption of such practice.

SOMEbody SAID SOMETHING ABOUT THE CURB MARKET.

Various interests, unknown to the Daily, unknown to farming authorities, unknown to anyone for the reason that they happen to be non-entities, said somebody said something about the curb market.

You may not understand fully just what is meant by the above phraseology, but that inane sentence is used to let the reader understand that someone has been talking curb market for the purpose of hurting the curb market, for the purpose of hurting Morgan county, for the purpose of hurting Decatur. They talk and they talk, never saying anything, but preying upon the man who has not kept up with things going on about him, undermining his chance to actually make a few dollars in cash, when perhaps he hasn't seen any cash since the time when cotton was at its height and if he did, turned round to pay it to someone else.

The report reaches Decatur that someone, one of the inane busy-bodies who hasn't time to do constructive work or thought, has been broadcasting that the city of Decatur is going to charge each farmer $25 for the privilege to sell on the curb market.

Pray, what in the world would be the object in the city of Decatur having the farmer pay municipal bills? What benefit could Decatur find in hoodwinking the farmer in any such fashion? Decatur is here trying to aid the farmer, holding out a helping hand and a few who have their own little grudges go yapping about without due regard to the truth of their statements.

Decatur citizens who are working earnestly to give the farmer an increased income trust that the error in the propaganda being put out from some sources is with intent to actually acquaint farmers with conditions which will exist under the curb market as they see it, certainly no citizen in Morgan county would attempt to give such facts and figures knowingly. Such practice will cost farmers money, certainly our good friends would not care to take money away from the farmer.

The truth of the curb market is this: At the beginning of the year, the date the farmer begins to sell on the market, he is required to pay 50 cents. On each day that he sells on the market he then pays a fee of 15 cents, which fee goes to the salary of the curb master. That is all the money paid by the farmer until next year when he again is taxed for his yearly permit.

The Daily trusts that the people who have been shouting about $25.00 costs to the farmer will acquaint themselves with these facts and then have sufficient manhood to correct the false impressions they have left. The thought has never occurred that there would be any opposition to a money making proposition for the farmer, but apparently there is some attempt on foot to keep the farmer from reaping these benefits. A few months of operation of the market and all farmers in this section will be pleased with the plan, Decatur citizens are going to do their dead level best to make the proposition paying to the man who needs the money.

Have no fears of paying $25 for your permit, someone has misinformed you concerning the costs.

DR. McREE URGES PEOPLE TO TAKE CARE OF PREMISES.

It's going to take money to finance the anti-malaria-mosquito campaign in this county this year, but first its going to take care on the part of the people of the county, according to Dr. H. C. McRee, county health officer.

Money and work will not keep Morgan county from getting away from the mosquito, that summer pest that causes lots of the unnecessary trouble in the world for mankind.

Campaigns in other years have proved to Morgan county that a little of money and less dirt is highly profitable, in that it pays dividends in less mosquitoes, less malaria, less of that summertime fever that hites along about May, June and July. Dr. McRee makes the following statement concerning the campaign in Morgan county of this year:

"There are three essentials for the growth and reproduction of disease germs, they are heat, food and moisture. The spring time offers these by giving us sunshine for heat, the accumulated waste for food, and abundant rain for the moisture. Only one of these is under our control, waste. We can clean up our premises and alleys, and thereby deprive them of their food."

"Malaria—Yes, it's time also to think about this enemy in the spring time, for the essentials for its growth and reproduction are also presented to us in the springtime. They are, heat, food and moisture."

"The spring sunshine gives the heat, an infected human being (a carrier) the food, and the tin cans and ponds furnish the moisture for the propagation of the mosquito."

"The mosquito bites the infected human carrier and gets the parasite which grows and reproduces in her in the same way that it does in man. Being a blood sucking little enemy, she must have blood for her physical well being, and she prefers the blood of human beings. Everyone she bites she leaves with him an ample dose to produce malaria."

"Two of these are under our control. We can screen against them by using 18 mesh screen, (18 spaces to the inch). Second, we can prevent their breeding in many instances by emptying all receptacles and draining low places. When this is impossible, they can be destroyed before they reach the flying stage by oiling or paris greening the surface of the water in which they have bred."

"Your health department is anxious to control the diseases caused by conditions outlined, and we urge not only a clean-up day, week or month, but a thorough cleanup each week, beginning now, this you can do."

"You can also aid in the mosquito control by seeing that no receptacle that can hold water is left on your premises, or in alleys adjacent to your property."

"Control by the other methods will have to be carried out by the department, and we are unable to do this even in our centers of population, without more force and money."

"We therefore urge, and request that you urge, the appropriating bodies to furnish us more money so that we can do this life saving work."

"By way of explanation, for fear the rural people will feel like they are being discriminated against, let us say that it is a practical impossibility to do malaria control work in rural areas, the cost prohibits. Whereas, the cost in the centers of population is negligible."

"If interested, talk it and push it to its successful consummation, and we'll do the rest."

Respectfully,
 "Morgan County Health Dept.
 H. C. McREE, Health Officer."

It is too bad that every citizen in Morgan county is not a subscriber to the newspaper, too bad that he cannot know just how much a little work will aid him in stopping the attack of mosquitoes. There are places in Morgan county where health officials will go this summer to find that no precaution has been taken, that members of the family are ill, all for the reason of a little neglect on the part of some persons. Again, we can point out the value of reading a newspaper, it even enters into the interests of health in your section.

Dr. McRee will have the aid of some sections this year, others will continue to plod along 100 years behind time and wonder why in the world there are so many mosquitoes to bother during the drowsy summer afternoon snooze. At any rate, we hope that those who do read Dr. McRee's warning, will get busy and conform to the ideas he has set forth clearly and tersely. These items will prove invaluable to the man who is interested in county welfare and progress.

ANALYZING THEIR PUBLIC

Attacks of Vertigo and Their Causes

Terrifying Symptoms Often Brought On by Indigestion.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
 United States Senator from New York.
 Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

WE like to feel that the earth is a solid and dependable institution. When we have our feet on the well-packed ground we are about as safe as men and women can be.

But have you ever experienced an earthquake? Then it is that genuine fear enters the heart. When old Mother Earth gives way, the bottom has fallen out of existence.

Really, I can think of no stranger experience and none more unpleasant than the tremors of an earthquake. Next to this, in heart-stilling effect, is an attack of vertigo.

Vertigo and dizziness and giddiness are the various names given that unhappy symptom. It cannot be described, but when once experienced will not be forgotten. It produces exactly the same mental disturbance that an earthquake does. In its presence all sense of security disappears. The fear of sudden and terrible disaster drives all the blood to the heart.

There are certain organic defects which may produce it. Perhaps the most common cause, however, is some form of indigestion or intestinal disturbance. Constipation is present in almost every case.

It is a pity that the digestive and eliminative organs are so neglected. I doubt if any other part of the body is so disregarded as is the digestive tract.

The average person makes a plaything of the stomach. Without hesitation, doubtful dishes, excessive quantities of pastry, bottles liquor, contaminated milk, shellfish from unknown sources, and any food or drink offered by the merest stranger.

THE VIEWS OF OTHERS

MARKING THE ROADS

Mobile has a automobile club which has adopted as its major project for the year the marking of all of the roads leading into that city, believing that in doing so it will be rendering a needed public service of very high value.

Roads are not properly marked in and around Mobile, says the Mobile Register, though there is now under a way a movement, which will ultimately result in all roads being properly and uniformly marked throughout Alabama.

The mayors of the cities and towns of Alabama have gone on record as favoring uniform traffic regulations, including road markers, throughout Alabama.

The Register suggests that the Mobile automobile club take into consideration what is to be done through the state highway department in connection with uniform road markers for the entire state while planning the markers for that city and county. Other progressive states, it says, have uniform markers, and it would be an easy matter to make local plans fit in with the state-wide plan.

Here in Tuscaloosa there has been the same recognition of the need of road markers, and but recently some action has been suggested along the line of supplying this need. State action need not be awaited, but Tuscaloosa county, too, will want to consider the probable or possible action of the state in establishing uniform markers for the roads.—Tuscaloosa News.

ALABAMA AND THE SHOALS

Seldom has a delegation made a trip to Washington which has created more interest than Governor Graves and his party are likely to create, when the nation awakes to a full realization of what it is all about.

In the memorial presented by the Alabama Muscle Shoals commission, there is no equivocation.

The state simply claims all of the Tennessee river which lies within Alabama, Muscle Shoals included.

The claims of the state of Alabama are so unique, and, it might be said, so daring, that the public has not yet really awakened to the significance of them.

They are a revival of the omnipresent cross up between Federal and State authority and no one, without a careful study of all the laws and precedents, can say with accuracy that there is not justice aplenty on the side of the state.

The Alabama commission freely concedes the entire rights of the United States government in the Tennessee, or any other river, as far as navigational rights are concerned, and the nation's rights to the power of the river when used for purposes of national defense, but the commission's contention is based on the idea that when the government proposes to dispose of power from the dam in Alabama or proposes to use that power to go into commercial business, or proposes to dispose of the entire property for these purposes, the government is treading on this state's rights.

Involved in the problem of the right and wrong of the matter, are the powers of the Federal Power Commission, the interpretation of the United States Constitution, and the precedents established in the past.

The discussions which will arise out of the activities of the Muscle Shoals commission are sure to be nation-wide and of much interest.—Gadsden Times.

ABOUT LIBEL LAWS

The Decatur Daily believes that the newspapers of Alabama should make efforts to have the legislature revise the present antiquated libel laws. That paper calls attention to the fact that Texas has just done this, and states:

The libel laws of Alabama are heart or blood-vessel trouble, it will be more difficult to overcome.

Too many and too powerful drugs are taken by persons who are ignorant of their uses and not conscious of what may happen from their abuse. Sometimes faintness and vertigo may follow the taking of strong medicine. Never take drugs unless they have been prescribed by a doctor.

Simple giddiness may be relieved by emptying the bowels. An enema is the simplest way to accomplish this purpose.

If you have an attack of vertigo lie down and keep quiet. If the face is flushed, support the head and shoulders by the use of several pillows. If the face is very pale, use no pillow, but have the head lower than the general level of the body.

By proper eating and sensible living try to get the digestive and other organs into normal condition. Then you are unlikely to have further attacks.

too stringent. Few debate that issue. Fortunately for Alabama newspapers, the courts, in constructing the law, usually adopt a very fair attitude toward the newspapers, but the press should not be menaced by the laws which throw so many limitations about them as to really limit, to a degree, the freedom of the press to publish information which the public has a right to receive.

With the legislature scheduled to resume its deliberations in June the newspapers of Alabama should put competent legal talent to work on drafting a libel statute which would accord the public the protection to which it is entitled, but which would not prove a constant source of danger to newspapers which make a serious effort to be fair, and accurate in their presentation of information to their readers.

The law should at least be amended to permit truth to be a defense in libel cases. Alabama's present libel laws are such that shyster lawyers find the newspapers easy pickings. It is not fair to the newspaper and it is not fair to the people.

But the legislature needs to do many things that it will not do—least of all to bother with newspapers and their troubles. While we hope for fairer libel laws we are not optimistic enough to believe they will be passed any time soon. Politicians give small thought to newspapers after election.—Dothan Eagle.

BILL TO PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(AP)—The second army housing bill, authorizing an appropriation of $7,115,000 for new barracks and other building needs at various posts throughout the country, was sent today to President Coolidge with the house's approval of the conference report.

There is no better market anywhere for anything you have for sale than The Daily want columns. Call Albany 1000.

Today:

By ARTHUR BRISBANE. (Copyright, 1926, by The Star Co., For The Decatur Daily).

In offering Mr. Brisbane's daily editorials The Daily does not necessarily concur with his opinions, but offers them as the sentiments of the highest paid editorial writer in this country.

THE President vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm bill, and on the Chicago board of trade wheat immediately went up one cent and a half a bushel.

If wheat goes up high enough and cotton follows, between now and 1926 farmers won't miss their McNary-Haugen bill.

IN HIS VETO the President says "the bill is unconstitutional, and would not benefit the farmer, and is unwarrantable."

However, Mr. Coolidge was elected president. To veto any bill that should be in his opinion unconstitutional or unwise. He was elected to exercise his own opinion, not that of a farm bloc or anybody else. No one will deny that in writing his veto President Coolidge showed political courage, putting what he believes to be the duty of nineteen twenty seven ahead of his political prospects in 1928.

Even farmers that disagree with him most violently will admire his courage.

THIS is written in California where oil replaces gold as the centre of men's hopes and cupidity. Oil, more than anything else, except human intelligence, runs the world. Locomotives and battle ships burn it, 22,000,000 American automobiles run by the gasoline, machines with their endless millions of horse power grind on a protecting oil film. You might like to hear of a visit to the world of oil, made upon the invitation of President K. R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil Company of California. The trip was directed by Loren L. Hillman, who, with his father, is responsible for production of the oil, and L. D. Dimm, who changes the oil into more than 400 different products after it reaches the gigantic refinery at El Segundo, on the edge of the Pacific.

SINBAD'S Diamond Valley and all the wealth of Golconda were as nothing compared with one strip of land forty miles long, twenty miles wide around Los Angeles.

That little "farm" yields now one seventh of all the oil produced on earth.

THE whole world produces 3,000,000 barrels of oil a day and the United States' share is 2,000,000 barrels.

In 1916 the harbor of Los Angeles exported 770,000 barrels of oil, practically all exported by Standard Oil of California.

In 1926, Standard Oil of California alone exported 42,000,000 barrels from this harbor. And the total shipment was more than 120,000,000 barrels.

HUNTING oil is a romantic pursuit, calculated to cause heart failure. In the newest "Seal Beach field," nearly all the big companies had driven "wild cat" wells, giving up after spending $2,500,000 on "dry holes."

WHEN the other day Marland Oil drilled a hole on soft marsh formed by the Pacific ocean, close to the other holes. Out burst the oil, 3,000 barrels a day, pushed up by gas below, and somebody over night made ten millions. Others with "oil leases" in the neighborhood will probably make fifty millions more! What are gold mines compared with that?

Reading for tonight: 2nd Corinthians 5:14-20. Sharing the Good News.

"The love of Christ constraineth us."

There are many motives which lead men to the attainment of great objectives; but the strongest is love. It may be the love of a person, a cause, or an institution; but it is love. It leads men to difficult heights, where fear or even ambition could never drive them. It sends them undaunted across the desert sands and over the seven seas.

And the greatest love is the love of Christ. That means gratitude for benefits to us, admiration for His character, response to the winsoneness of His spirit. It leads men to obey His commands, to desire above all else His approving words, "Well done!"

We need to think more about Christ as the One to be loved. This will make it easier for us to do the right which is His will. It will attune our hearts to His and we shall know in part the communion of heaven.

Rev. Howard Matheny, Decatur, was greeted by a large congregation at Falkville Christian church on Sunday. The visiting pastor delivered an unusually interesting message and is scheduled for a return address at that church on next Sunday morning. Church leaders were already issuing invitations to members of congregations to attend the service on next Sunday.

Well, He Vetted It.
 That Took Courage.
 Better Than Gold.
 K. R. Kingsbury's Plan.

AS interesting as the oil well romance is the vast El Segundo plant with its thousands of employees, that changes the crude oil into products that include gasoline, kerosene, lubricating oils and fuel oil.

Mr. Dimm says "I'll show you the top of one large oil tank, and drives you to an isolated 'tank farm' in one corner of his 1100 acre plant. The great oil tanks are separated by high banks to keep oil and fire from spreading in case of explosions, protected by scientific steel and copper lightning rod towers, shooting far up in the air.

Offhand, what would you expect the size of a big tank to be? Several tanks hold 3,000,000 barrels, and the top of each covers nearly two acres. Enough for a small farm. A lightning flash there would send three million dollars into the air, or many times that sum if the fire spread.

MR. DIMM shows 52 round "barrels" each holding 1,000 barrels of oil, a fiercely burning oil fire under each "distilling tank. First gasoline rises, then kerosene in a vapor. It passes through pipes, constantly cooled by millions of gallons of salt water pumped in from the Pacific ocean. In a building nearby you see a long row of spouting pipes hermetically enclosed in glass. Each is spouting gasoline or kerosene at the rate of 3,000 gallons an hour.

AS CONCERNS Standard Oil of California and other companies doubtless, the vast oil business is established on a basis of exploration and development that should bring untold billions to the United States in years to come.

The California branch of Standard Oil, a separate corporation, is developing new oil fields in Texas, Montana, the Philippines, Alaska, Columbia, Ecuador and Argentina, besides sending trained geologists to hunt probable oil lands in all countries, in the tropics and in the Arctic circle, where a well has been "brought in."

This one oil company has more than 1,000 miles of pipe lines and maintains a great fleet of tank steamers.

THIS COMPANY realizes that the 19,000 employees on its payroll are at least as important as oil in the ground or machinery to distill it.

Standard Oil of California has no strikes. Its lowest pay for rough labor is $4.96 for eight hours, and all work is on eight-hour basis. After a man has worked for the company one year he can invest twenty percent of his earnings in Standard Oil of California stock at the market price. To every dollar that he invests, the company adds fifty cents to his investment as it's contribution.

In the first 22 months' operation of this plan, employees saved and invested in Standard Oil of California $7,709,243. To that sum the company added $3,845,621. Dividends amounted to $441,513. Thus in 22 months employees of this one oil corporation saved and accumulated, including the corporation's gift, $12,005,413.

THAT ought to be a fairly good antidote for what high finance calls "Bolshevism" and what common sense would call "the restlessness of men that nothing to show for a life's work."

Henry Ford says "Standard Oil is the best managed business in the world," and he is a good judge.

"Jesus, the very thought of Thee
 With sweetness fills the breast;
 But sweeter far Thy face to see,
 And in Thy presence rest!"

Water again is over the Bee Line highway, across the river from here in Limestone county, according to reports of persons who traversed the road today. With the river again rising, it was feared that traffic might be hampered seriously unless the river falls.

LITERARY PROGRAMS GIVEN AT CIRCLE MEETINGS

The circles of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Methodist church held instructive meetings on Monday afternoon, Africa being the subject treated in a beautiful manner. Hosea, prophet of loving kindness, was used in the devotional period and topic for discussion was "How Are World Currents in Africa Shaping Future Destinies?" Much preparation and earnest effort were shown by those taking part on the programs that included prayers and songs.

The James Duncan Memorial Circle met with Mrs. Robert R. Banks. The Bible lesson was in charge of Mrs. Robin Thomas who also conducted the program. The leader of the circle, Mrs. Stout presided at the business session. This circle had as a guest Mrs. George D. Williamson, who is president of the Missionary Society.

Circle one met with Mrs. S. H. Malone. Mrs. C. O. King led the devotional and all present took part in the remainder of the program. The chairman of the circle, Mrs. D. D. McGehee presided during the business hour.

Mrs. J. W. Cunningham was hostess to circle two. A song opened the meeting. Mrs. George Rogers conducted the devotional and she was assisted on the program by Mrs. Hartwell Davis, Frank Brown, and J. W. Cunningham. Business followed with Mrs. Lee in the chair.

Circle three had their meeting with Mrs. D. S. Echols as hostess with Mrs. W. W. Callahan in charge. Articles for discussion were given by Mrs. H. A. Nungester, Mrs. W. W. Callahan, and Mrs. Molly Pearson. In the absence of the leader and assistant leader, business was conducted by Mrs. W. H. Ritter.

All of the meetings were well attended. Attention was called to the prayer hour for missions that will be held in the Westminster Presbyterian church on Friday afternoon, and also to Loyalty Month and all were urged to observe these. Prayer closed all of the meetings. All circles will meet on Monday at the church for the monthly auxiliary meet.

ASSOCIATION HAS MEETING

At the regular meeting of the Decatur Parent-Teachers Association on Monday afternoon, Mrs. Vera Austelle, the president was in the chair and one of the first items of business taken up was in the chair and one of the first items of business taken up was a call for a special meeting of the finance committee for this week.

The Librarian, Miss Lillian Odum made a report that was especially pleasing, that picture of the Rose Window in Rheims Cathedral had been presented to the library of the High school by the Progressive Culture Club at the morning chapel hour in the auditorium of the school. Mesdames John D. Wyker, J. W. Cunningham and Louis A. Nell were members of the committee that made the presentation.

Mrs. Wyker introducing Mrs. Nell who made the presentation speech. This picture is prized highly by the faculty and students and will be hung at an early date. Professor Benson made the announcement that the name plates for the two large collections of books had been received and put over the collections and they bore the names of F. E. Littlefield and C. C. Harris.

The association promised their support to the Athletic association in the play that will be put on by the women of the Southside Presbyterian church under the direction of Mrs. A. N. Penland, half of the proceeds to be given the Athletic association and the other half to the Presbyterian Society. Further plans for the art exhibit to be put on at the High school the last week in March were discussed. At this time one hundred copies of the Old Masters and fifty modern pictures will be shown.

The pennant was given to Miss Elizabeth Houston's second grade. The program committee presented little Misses Geraldine Camp and Edith Cheatwood during the literary hour and they gave readings that were very much enjoyed.

Arkansas Lady Says She Has Never Found a Better Laxative Than Thedford's Black-Draught.

Mineral Springs, Ark.—"We use Black-Draught in our family of six children," says Mrs. C. E. Nutt, of this place, "and we find it a good bowel regulator. I give it to my children for colds and constipation, or any other stomach disorders, and it certainly is very helpful. I have never known it to fail them. Where there are so many children, it is a good idea to keep a laxative on hand, and Black-Draught is what we use."

"I have taken it myself for indigestion. I would feel dizzy, have gas and sour stomach. I would also feel a tightness in my chest. I took a good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught when I felt that way and it would relieve me. I would feel better for days."

"My husband takes Black-Draught for biliousness. He says he has never found its equal. When he has the tired, heavy feeling, he takes Black-Draught, night and morning for a few days and he doesn't complain any more. I sure do recommend Black-Draught."

Sold everywhere. Get a package of Black-Draught, today. Costs only one cent a dose.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY CENTRAL M. E. CHURCH

Monday afternoon there gathered about Mrs. J. L. Gunter's cozy fireside about twenty-five of the most enthusiastic church builders, when she was hostess to Circle No. 3, the Virginia Graham circle. If enthusiasm could build a church the air would already be full of the echoing sounds of the hammer and scent of broken earth, the gleam of saws, the flashing nails in the sunlight and a new church would be lifting its walls along Sixth avenue.

The devotionals were led by Mrs. Mary Blackwell, who read scriptural references on prayer. Many members assisted, reading selected passages. A discussion of ways and means to finance a church building followed. A program feature was a duet, "Silver Threads Among the Gold" sung by Mesdames Moseley and Warren.

The meeting closed with a prayer by Mrs. I. M. Eubanks, that gave all something to ponder on the fulfillment of God's promises.

At the close of the meeting hostesses served hot coffee and sandwiches.

Misses Jane and Harriet Irwin delighted those present with a short musical program of violin and piano solos. In the regular business program two new members were received. It was decided that the circle would hold a rummage sale on Saturday and on the evening of March 17 will entertain with a silver tea.

During the social hour the hostesses served a salad course with coffee.

PARIS STYLE HINTS

PARIS.—The evening gown which announces itself with a flash of light on beads, gold or silver embroidery, combined with brilliant or bright stones, is very prominent in the spring and summer models.

Many are white or very delicate in color, with a glittering mass of crystal beads worked into innumerable designs which usually follow the long and draped lines. Lenief is making many with empire necklines, with the somewhat broadish straps of strass. One has but a single strap, leaving the other shoulder bare.

When Lucien Lelong uses no jewels, he puts on long, silk fringe. One of these models has a shawl of original design which has a scarf effect about the neck and is edged with long silk fringe like on the dress. A delightful shawl in black velvet has long white fringe and is worn over a gown which has a white bodice and black skirt, both embroidered in strass. A stunning pearl evening gown is embroidered in steel and rhinestones.

Jenny's favorite combination for evening wear is black and pale pink. Another designer is making a striking evening ensemble consisting of long coat of black crepe de Chine lined with white and the cuffs over a gown of white chiffon.

Lumbago Leaves

Chiropractic Comes

essay on health by

HENRY

KLEIN,

Chiropractor

Lumbago is rheumatism in the lumbar muscles—in other words in the small of the back. It is particularly painful because it strikes at the foundation of the body—the back—and the pain reflects itself through very sensitive nerves.

But there is a health method that reaches the seat of the trouble and that method is Chiropractic spinal adjustments. Lumbago leaves after proper adjustments are given because the cause of the trouble, irritation of spinal nerves, is removed by adjustments.

Chiropractic spinal adjustments remove the cause of diseases of the head, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, small and large intestines, and the lower organs of the body.

Decatur Hi Plays Albany for Pair of Wins In Opener

GIRLS OUTPLAY ALBANY FOR AN EASY VERDICT OF 33-3

Boys Battle Decided In The Last Few Minutes of Play, 30-28.

Decatur Hi school jumped into the lead in the inter-city series, which will decide the championship within the city basketball circle, last night, Decatur girls winning easily 33-3, while the boys affair was a stilted rumpus as the two teams took the lead from each other with the passing of a few seconds. Decatur boys staged a brilliant comeback to gather a two point margin and a victory.

In the first game, Decatur opened slowly, Pointer shot a foul. Stamps of Albany tied things with a free toss. Pointer contributed a field goal to end the scoring for the first quarter. Decatur substituted Garren for Fussell, Davis for Broadus and Robertson for Robinson.

Pointer contributed all the counters in the second quarter with a field goal and a free toss. The half ending 6-1 for Decatur.

Things opened with a bang in the second half. Kingsbury went in for Davis, Heidt for Pointer. Garren drew first blood with a field goal, then proceeded to divide honors with Heidt in dropping pointers through the mesh. In the third Garren scored six points, Heidt four, while Stamps, Albany forward, scored the final and only goal for Albany.

With the fourth quarter Hunter went in for Hansell for Albany, Decatur substituted Hendrix for Kingsberry. Heidt and Garren vied for honors in goal tossing, Heidt leading with a one point margin, shooting nine points while Garren corraled eight. Broadus went in for Hendrix. Albany substituted Miller for Stone and Schulman for Winton, but the Decatur scoring went merrily on. The final of 33-3 was due to a well defined passing attack of the Decatur team, while Albany forwards stood still most of the game while the ball was played in the other end of the court.

The line-up:

Albany boys took an early lead in the second game of the evening. Brenaugh drew first, tossing a marker during the first minute of play. Bishop tied things with a field goal, Evans dropped his first of the evening through the wicker to place Albany in the lead. Lanier tossed a free shot. Brenaugh, then Prince, fired long shots for a pair of points each. Evans contributed a foul then a field goal. Bishop shot his second basket of the evening, then added a point via the foul route. Lanier assayed the oval through the hoops, while Bishop contributed a moment later with a field goal, closing the first quarter with Albany leading 14-7.

Albany failed to count during the second quarter, Decatur crawling toward an even footing. Napps and West gathered field goals during this quarter, while Brenaugh and Lanier tossed a foul shot each. Frequent substitutions marked the second quarter, Stinson going in for Thombs and Perie taking Evans place. Cottrell went in for West. The half found Albany in the lead 14-13.

Albany sent Evans back to his post to begin the second half. Albany rushed to a long lead with two beautiful baskets from the sideline by Evans. Perie scored beneath the basket. Decatur sent Bryant for Lanier, Lanier taking Cottrell's position. Bryant scored a field goal, Brenaugh took a foul toss and Evans contributed his third basket of the third period. West went in for Lanier. Evans continued his accurate shooting and scored two more baskets for a total of ten points in the third quarter. Albany was apparently safely in the lead with 26-16 count.

The entire Decatur team contributed in the drive which brought victory in the last quarter. Bryant scored from the floor, West made a foul toss good. Lanier went in for Brenaugh. Lanier scored a field goal, West added another goal, Bryant dropped the oval cleanly through the hoops. West made a long shot good from the center of the floor and Decatur had taken the lead. The audience went wild when the Decatur lads forged to the fore. Lanier scored a foul toss, giving Decatur a two point lead. Napps was free a moment and tossed the last Decatur marker through the mesh for a total of 30 points. With little more than a few seconds remaining for play, Evans scored Decatur backers with another sample of his uncanny accurateness, bringing the score to 30-28. But there the score stuck as the whistle ended the fray a few seconds later.

Mock Trial To Be Staged Soon

Messrs. Wade Wright, Ben Brintnell and Fred Nebrig, who compose the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee which will handle the details of the forthcoming "mock trial," to be presented by the Juniors, except to begin work on the plans within a day or two, according to report made last night to the board of directors of the organization.

The trial will include the appearance of nearly all the members of the Morgan County bar and a number of prominent "defendants."

BOHNE TO FIGHT HIS WAY UPWARD

Former Red Strives To Return To The Big Top

When the Minneapolis Millers, "Decatur's Own," begin their spring training here next week, none will work harder to get in tip-top condition than Sammy Bohné, former Red, who is seeking to battle his way back to the big top.

Mike Kelley, the Millers manager, is expected to arrive here Thursday and will give his personal attention to placing the final touches on Malone park. His bat-trymen will report on next Monday, and the rest of the club will be here next Thursday.

Local fans will be much interested in the activities of Eddie Kenna, star of the Nashville catching corps last season. Kenna went up at the end of the Southern league season. Homer Ezzell, another former major leaguer, will be another star who will be endeavoring to set such a fast pace in the Double A circuit that his services will be recalled for major league work.

The Millers are after blood this season and Messrs. Kelley and Murray are determined to give the Minneapolis fans a pennant contender.

Much good natured rivalry already has been engendered between the Nashville and Minneapolis clubs. Messrs. Murray and Hamilton who are close personal friends, evincing great desire to "horse-tromp" each other's baseball team and no doubt the Miller-Vol contests will be contested bitterly.

JIM STEWART LEADS VANDY TO WIN OVER SOUTH CAROLINIANS

Georgia's Foul Shooting Proves To Be A Factor In Stopping Champs.

Vanderbilt and Georgia meet tonight in the Atlanta cage to clinch in the final effort of the S. I. C. cage tourney. Vanderbilt eliminated South Carolina last night, while Georgia did the unexpected to upset North Carolina, champs for the past three years.

In the semi-finals Vanderbilt defeated the Gamecocks 31-25. Georgia defeated North Carolina 23-20. Clark opened the game with a nice field goal from under the basket after breaking through Vandy's defense. Baker came back with two goals for Vandy, from the corner of the court after completely eluding his guard. South Carolina was missing her long shots.

McCall, in one of the prettiest plays of the tournament ran Vanderbilt's score up to six by battling one in from the foul line after a toss up.

Rogers and Clark knotted the score later with two field goals that came with bewildering rapidity. Vanderbilt then lighted her defense and Game Cock shots went wild. Baker dropped in a foul to give the Commodores a one-point lead. Rogers, playing center for the Game Cocks was holding Stuart, Vanderbilt ace scoreless, but Baker was getting away from nice shots, one of which dropped thru.

To give Vandy a three-point advantage Stuart slapped in one that Baker missed. White went in for Chandler and got loose for a crisp shot and Rogers followed with a pretty one from away out just before the gun for the half sounded.

Both teams clamped down air tight defenses as the second half opened.

Moss tried a long one which missed but the lanky Stuart batted it in during the scramble which followed. Rogers made a free shot and Fair got a long field goal to bring the Game Cocks to within one point of Vandy's 14. Moss, Vandy captain broke through for a beautiful field goal to make the score 16 to 13.

Clark dribbled through Vandy's defense for a pretty field goal. The crowd was wild as Fair tossed in a beautiful shot from the side of the court and the Game Cocks went into the lead. Stuart got a foul and pillowed it with two field goals to put the Commodores back into the lead. Clark tied it up again with a foul and a field goal only to have the lead go to Vandy again. Moss made it 25 to 21 with a nice field goal. Stuart battled in one from under the basket and Clark came back with two long field goals but a long goal by Stuart put the game on ice.

Following is the line-up and summary:

S. Carolina	Position	Vanderbilt
Rogers 5	Forward	Bridges 4
Fair 4	Forward	Baker 9
White 2	Forward	Stuart 12
Clark 13	Center	Moss 4
Zeidman	Guard	McCall 2
	Guard

The University of Georgia, playing an inspired brand of basketball, eliminated North Carolina, champions for the past 3 years, 23 to 20, in the most exciting and thrilling game in the Southern Conference tournament, which enters its finals tonight.

Keen, Georgia forward, by throwing two pretty field goals in the last two minutes of play gave Georgia its victory.

Carolina opened a fast passing attack which carried the ball under the basket for R. Hackney to ring it soon after the toss-up. Two fouls, one by Morris and another by Story, gave the champions a four-point lead which Van Story increased to six before two fouls, one shot by Koon, the other by Forbes, gave Georgia her first counters. A field goal by Purser and a foul by R. Hackney sent the Tar Heels' score to nine. Florence added three points to the Bulldog score with fouls. Turner took a free throw to bring Georgia up to six points. Florence got away for Georgia's field goal to bring the score within one point of the champion's.

Both teams were playing an airtight defense and apparently making little effort to score as the half ended.

Bunn Hackney found himself clear shortly after the half began and sank a clean field goal. Morris went out on fouls and Keen got his free shot. Purser came thru with a pretty field goal to make the score 13 to 8 but Turner got a long field goal to make it 13 to 11.

Van Story sank a short shot from back of the basket. Keen came back with one of the same kind, however, to put Georgia within two points of the champions. Purser sank two free shots to make it 17 to 13.

Keen looped in a nice one and the crowd howled for Tar Heel blood. Turner sank a free shot to make it 17 to 16.

The line-up:

N. Carolina	Position	Georgia
R. Hackney 3	Forward	Florence 7
Van Story 8	Forward	Keen 8
Purser 6	Forward	Drew 3
B. Hackney	Center	Forbes 1
	Guard
Morris 1	Guard	Turner 4

Substitutes: Price for Morris, Baggett for Purser. Referee, Mention. Umpire, Sutton.

TICKETS ON SALE FOR LOCAL SERIES

Committees Seeking To Place Books At $10 Each

Following a meeting Monday afternoon, in the directors room of the Central National Bank, committees this morning began the task of disposal of $3,000 worth of baseball tickets for the spring training contests between the Minneapolis Millers and various major and minor league clubs here.

The meeting yesterday was attended by President Charles Rountree, Thomas A. Bowles, chairman of the ticket committee, W. W. Fussell, A. C. Dillehay, Walter Morris, secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, B. D. Meadows, B. L. Malone and B. M. Bloodworth, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The books of tickets will sell for $10 per book and contain admission tickets to every contest. The purchasers save ten per cent by buying the books, the advance sale of tickets being necessary, however, to raise the guarantee, without making requests for outright donations.

Members of the central baseball committee took the view that it would be better to sell the tickets than to ask local citizens to make donations to the guarantee fund. A large part of the public today was said to agree with this attitude and ticket sales were being consummated without many refusals.

WE offer for your consideration a new pipe tobacco of singular merit, Granger Rough Cut.

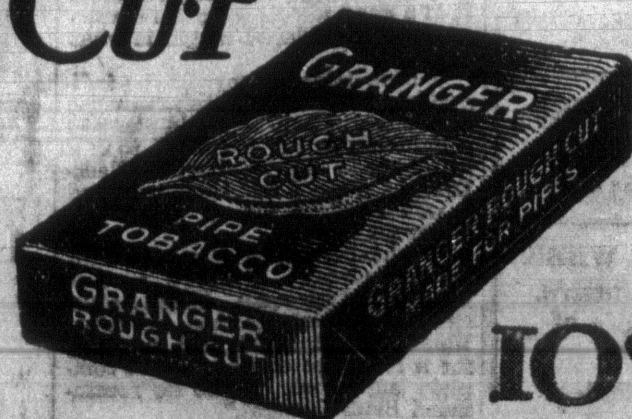

Modestly priced, because instead of costly lithographed tins it is inexpensively and sensibly packed in heavy foil. But we urge you to judge it neither on package nor price, but on the two things pipe smokers will most enjoy; its good taste and its superb smoking qualities.

We believe that for character, mild richness, and coolness, Granger will compare with any pipe tobacco made. At ten cents per package (due to the foil wrapper), it is beyond question the greatest tobacco value to be had today.

To this end and for this purpose the State is authorized to appropriate funds and also to issue and sell interest-bearing negotiable State bonds in addition to those already authorized and sold under Article XX, as an amendment to the Constitution of 1901, in an amount not to exceed the sum of twenty-five million dollars ($25,000,000); to be issued under such denominations, numbers and series, and maturing at such times as may be provided by law; all such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not greater than six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and shall be sold at a price not less than the par value thereof. The State Highway Commission or Highway Department shall locate, construct, and maintain highways and State trunk roads so as to connect each county seat with the county seat of the adjoining county by the most direct or feasible route or by a permanent road, having due regard to the public welfare; and to connect the county seats of the several border counties at or near the State line with a public road in the border State. Provided, that in counties which are divided into two or more judicial divisions in each of which regular terms of the circuit court are held, the places where said terms of court are held, shall likewise be connected with each other. It shall be the duty of the Highway Commission or Highway Department to equitably apportion among the several counties of the State the expenditure of both money and labor and the time or times of making such investment. Not less than one quarter of a million dollars of the proceeds of these bonds shall be set aside and expended by the State Highway Commission in each county in the State. No Bolshevism In Nicaragua; People Amused At Propaganda

By MODESTO ARMIJO
Minister of Education in the Cabinet of Dr. Juan Bautista Sacasa, claimant to the Constitutional Presidency of Nicaragua.
(Written Especially for International News Service)
PUERTO CABEZAS, Nicaragua. —Bolshevism has been spoken of for the first time in connection with Nicaragua.
The assertion of an attempt to implant the doctrine of Bolshevism in our country would have caused only laughter among Nicaraguans, but for the fact that the charge was designed to arouse suspicion and hostility toward us on the part of the government and people of the United States, so hostile to any idea which might undermine the foundations of its social and political organization.
Property owners in Nicaragua, both native and foreign, have given little importance to Bolshevik propaganda because they know that it does not imperil their interests. Because they understand the psychology of the Nicaraguan people they know that, given the degree of development attained by the country, Bolshevism cannot prevail.
Propaganda Damaging
Alarm exists among property owners in Nicaragua, those who wish to devote themselves honestly to the development of their enterprises, not because of any fear of Bolshevism itself, but because of the fact that if the United States can be made to believe in the possibility of our country going Bolshevik, Nicaragua may be gravely damaged.
The damage will consist in continued aid by the United States government to the maintenance of a painful situation which has prevailed in the country for more than fifteen years, a situation characterized by the lack of guarantees to persons or property, on account of administrative disorder.
Judges Not Lawyers
In the matter of police, in many places, where they have not been entirely suppressed, the personnel has been reduced to the point where they cannot perform their proper functions. In many towns police agents of an honorary or unpaid character have been appointed, and they have been given tacit permission to support themselves by taking possession of the properties of citizens.
Judicial authorities are appointed solely because of their political affiliations, however incompetent they may be for the performance of their duties. This may be established by citing the fact that more than fifty per cent of the judges of "first instance," or of the lower courts, are not lawyers, though there are enough qualified lawyers in Nicaragua to fill all such positions. In the meantime the tax burden is growing day by day, exhausting the sources of riches of the nation.
This situation has bred panic among the foreign capitalists, and has resulted in a lack of immigration in a country where every well directed activity is successful. It has resulted, also, in the present desperate efforts of native and foreign property owners to counteract the effects of a regime of open anarchy.
With the exception of a firm of Wall street bankers in the employment of enormous monopolistic privileges, and of Nicaraguan politicians either allied with those bankers or living on money illegally extracted from the national treasury, there is universal dissatisfaction with the prevailing situation and longing for the establishment of a serious government which shall know how to promote the interests of "collectivity."
No Bolshevism
Nicaraguans never dream of the implantation of bolshevik doctrines. There is no class problem, nor are there enormous differences in economic welfare which might generate a social revolution. There are no Nicaraguans dying of hun-

HOOVER ENJOYS STATISTICS

Secretary of Commerce Herbert C. Hoover, whose main hobby is said to be figures, is shown here standing beside the White House portrait of George B. Cortelyou who was named as head of the new department when it was created in 1903.

Figures Hoover's Hobby; He Makes Them Do Tricks

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON. —Figures are Herbert Hoover's hobby. He has more of 'em at his command than anybody in official life in Washington. He knows them backwards and forwards and sideways. He can make them do tricks. He is their master, and they are his slaves.
Do you want to know how many American murcoats were sold to the bushmen of Africa last year? Ask Hoover. Do you desire statistics on the number of Eskimo pies of American manufacture that ger and none suffering from lack of a house to shelter them or clothing to cover their nakedness. The humblest citizen has before him an open road to the most celebrated positions. Those abysses of hate which divide peoples and provoke great catastrophes do not exist between Nicaraguans. In full civil war there is respect for life, honor and property.

There is true respect and a welcome for immigrants who come to the country in search of a propitious field for their activities, and foreign companies on the Atlantic coast have tranquilly continued their activities in the territory controlled by the Constitutionalist army. This is the most convincing proof of the true ideals of the movement headed by Dr. Juan B. Sacasa.
Nicaragua has confidence in the triumph of justice, and that the great power which today is bullying a defenseless people will do honor to its glorious past, rectifying proceedings which have served only to arouse suspicions and create lack of confidence between the countries of Latin America and the Great Republic of the North.

Birmingham Road Is Declared Good

The Bee Line highway, between here and Birmingham, now is in fairly good condition and traveling time for motorists is not more than about three hours, according to Dr. A. J. Perollo, who with Mrs. Perollo, motored to Birmingham for the week-end. On their return they were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Roquemore, Mrs. Perollo's parents.

Many Interested In Legion's Trip

With March 1 being the last day for reservations which are assured of being with the Legionnaires' particular state delegation, I. V. Timberlake, adjutant of the local post, declared much interest is being shown here in the trip to the Paris convention.
Reservations can be received until May but after March 1, the state quotas are withdrawn and subsequent reservations will be made in the order received.
Adjutant Timberlake pointed out that reservations necessitate the submission of a $50 fee and two photographs to be used in issuance of the Legion's special card which will replace the ordinary pass-port.

Taylor Thought Plant Was Afire

Publicity must be watched closely, but it has its possibilities. This is the conclusion of F. E. Taylor, who called at The Daily office this morning with the following declaration: "We did wrong the other day when we said something in the paper about our working force being increased on Monday morning. When I got to our plant (The Farmers Fertilizer company), I thought the place must be on fire, judging from the crowd gathered."

Bailey Springs To Be Developed

North Alabama is to have another health resort, Dr. Shornshire, of Birmingham, announcing the formation of a company for the development of Bailey Springs, in Lauderdale county. With the development of Monte Sano on the east and Bailey Springs, west of here, the future attractions of this section will be much greater.
The Bailey Springs development is claimed, is a gigantic project involving some $5,000,000 and has for its goal a health and recreational resort second to few in the United States.

RAISED PENSION GOES TO "REBS"
First Increase Is The Result Of Recent Law Enactment
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 28. —(AP)—Pension checks, materially increased by the enactment of the Confederate pension raise bill passed by the legislature, will be mailed to veterans and widows on time, April 1, S. H. Blain, state auditor has announced.
All technicalities concerning the measure have already been gone over, and the office has been hard at work completing its revised lists so as to avoid inconvenience to the Confederates, he said.
The warrants will be sent to the various probate judges for April 1, delivery.
For the quarter beginning April 1, 1927, veterans will receive $30, or an increase of $15 a quarter. Widows in class one, 80 years old or over, or totally blind, will receive $30, and class three, consisting of widows under 70, will receive $22.50.
No increase will be made in the pension warrants to be issued for the July quarter under the new law, but the October warrants will be increased again, and other raises will follow periodically until January 1, 1929, when the veterans' checks will be $150, and the others will be proportionately higher.
PREPARE FOR SESSIONS
Local attorneys and court officials are preparing for the sessions of circuit court, which will open on March 14. Probably four weeks will be utilized by the court in hearing both criminal and civil cases.
Decatur is your home, you want your home to be the best, do your part toward making Decatur the best.

President Coolidge committed a terrible faux pas right in the midst of the campaign by declaring that fishing was an avocation for "old men and boys." Mr. Hoover was the only member of his official family to take open and violent umbrage at it. Mr. Hoover observed he wasn't a boy, neither was he an old man, he fished and was proud of it!
There wasn't any Cabinet crisis over it, either. In fact, Mr. Coolidge became a fisherman himself. At least he fishes now.
If you sit around enough tea tables in Washington you will hear that Mr. Hoover is the "heir apparent," meaning that if Mr. Coolidge decides not to brave the third-term bugaboo he will throw his support to Mr. Hoover. It's been gossiped so long that most people in Washington believe it.
Mr. Hoover is so adept at figures that he could probably figure out for you just what the mathematical chances of this are—if he would.

Rabies Treatment Is Issued Locally
First rabies treatment, issued from the Tennessee Valley laboratory since the installation of equipment for carrying the treatments in stock here, was issued yesterday by Dr. Perollo to a patient of Dr. R. P. Irwin, of Moulton.
Tetanus and diphtheria anti-toxin also will be carried in stock at the local laboratory for the convenience of the North Alabama public.

GRASS BLAZE
A grass blaze at Malone park Monday afternoon called the Johnston street fire department. No damage was done.

COURT MONDAY
Judge W. T. Lowe, of the Morgan county court, probably will hold a one day session of the court Monday, hearing non-jury cases.
